JOURNEYING TO WASHINGTON.

After a Stay There of About Two Weeks.

BETTER THAN EXPECTED.

Nurses, Who Will Accompany Her to the White House.

SCENES AT THE FERRY DEPOT

GREAT CROWD OF PEOPLE BID THE PARTY FAREWELL.

Speech by the President to a Gathering of Young Christians—Gifts from the Chinese.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 25.—After leaving San Francisco this morning the President's train ran through crowds at all the stations. Minute stops were made at Port Costa and Tracy, at each of which the President shook hands with a number of people. At Stockton, through some misunderstanding, the inhabitants thought the train would stop thirty minutes. The entire population was at the station, and a stand had been erected alongside of the track. But the train halted for two minutes. The President appeared upon the rear platform and bowed his acknowledgments to the vast assemblage. He also shook hands with some of those who crowded about the platform.

Since the route of the return journey to Washington has been published telegrams have poured in upon the President asking him to stop at almost every city and town.
Secretary Cortelyou has uniformly responded to these appeals that the President was going back to Washington by the most direct route, and that only such stops as the necessities of the railroad required would be made. The President desires to go back to Washington as quiet as possible.
It is believed the train will arrive there Thursday morning, but the hour has not been fixed, as the transportation arrangements beyond Chicago have not been completed.

Mrs. McKinley showed no ill effects from her journey up to the time Sacramento was reached, and Dr. Rixey believes she will be able to stand the trip to Washington without stopping for rest along the route.
Captain Stewart M. Bree, of New York, a son of the late United States Senator Bree, who came to San Francisco to be present at the last public appearance of General Shafter, upon whose staff he served during the Spanish war, is returning East on the President's train.

INCIDENTS OF DEPARTURE.

Many People at the San Francisco Ferry to Say Good-Bye.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 25.—The presidential party, after a sojourn of two weeks in this city, left for Washington a few minutes after 10 o'clock this morning.
The physicians in attendance on Mrs. Mc-Kinley held their last consultation yesterday and after a trained nurse and a doctor decided that Mrs. McKinley was strong enough to endure the transcontinental journey, preparations for departure were rapidly made. Mrs. McKinley enjoyed a refreshing night's rest and seemed elated at the prospect of soon again being at home.
She was conveyed from the Scott residence to the Oakland ferry in a closed carriage, over a circuitous route, which was chosen so that the invalid might pass over only smooth-paved streets, the jarring basalt blocks which are laid on many streets being avoided. She was accompanied by the President, Dr. Rixey and a trained nurse. The rest of the party proceeded to the starting point in a more direct way.

An immense crowd had assembled at the ferry depot of the Southern Pacific, the wide expanse afforded by the junction of Market and East streets being a solid mass of humanity through which the police, with difficulty, kept open a passage for the President and his party. Heads were uncovered as the carriage containing Mrs. McKinley approached, and there was a visible effort to restrain an outburst of applause as the carriage, with drawn curtains, drove slowly through the throng. All respected the call of the moment and the suffering and enthusiasm was suppressed. There were no formal ceremonies at the depot. Good-byes were exchanged by the President, Cabinet members and others of the party with the friends who had come to wish them Godspeed, and the distinguished travelers boarded the ferryboat Oakland, which made a special trip for their accommodation. The carriage containing Mrs. McKinley was driven on to the boat—the President did not show himself. Mrs. McKinley was propped up with pillows and Dr. Rixey sat opposite the President on the front seat.

General Shafter and his staff, Mayor Phelan and the citizens' committee in charge of the entertainment were about to bid the honored guest good-bye. The general public was not allowed on board. As the ferryboat passed out of her slip for the trip across the bay the whistles of the steam craft were blown, but the valves were not turned on and the salute was not so shrill enough to disturb the lady. The crowds on the pier waved a silent adieu. The battery of guns firing within hailing distance of the ferry, as the latter passed, dipped her flag while the crow lined the rails, but no salute was fired. The training ship at the naval station, however, let go twenty-one guns as the ferryboat appeared upon the water.

At the Oakland mole, where the train was in readiness, precautions had been taken to prevent a crowd. The inclosure was carefully roped off. Mrs. McKinley was tenderly helped onto the carriage by the President and when she had been made comfortable in her car he appeared on the platform and waved adieu to the throngs beyond the ropes.

Dr. Rixey and the two trained nurses went with Mrs. McKinley. The President's train will be in charge of General Manager Kruschmidt, of the Southern Pacific, as far as Ogden. After leaving Sacramento a new run will be made all the way over the divisions and should no mishap occur, the train should arrive in Ogden Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The train will then be turned over to the Union Pacific and the run to Omaha will be on faster time. From Omaha to Chicago the presidential party will run over the Chicago &

Northwestern. The Pennsylvania Railroad is selected as the route to Washington from Chicago.

TO YOUNG CHRISTIANS.

Brief Address by the President on Character Building.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 25.—Last night President McKinley attended an impromptu reception at the California-street M. E. Church, given by the Epworth League and Christian Endeavor societies.
The President made a brief address. He said:

"It gives me very great pleasure on this last evening of my stay in your hospitable city, to meet with the young men and women of the Epworth League and the Christian Endeavor and the Union of the Episcopal churches. The young people of this city generally have dedicated themselves to the holy cause of Christian teaching and character building, and it is to be the host of the great International Epworth League to be held in your city in the month of July for the purpose of the promotion of my best wishes. I congratulate you on the noble work in which you are engaged and the great results which have followed your efforts. He who serves the Master best serves man best, and he who serves truth serves civilization. There is nothing that lasts so long or wears so well and is so highly characterful and an upright life and that is what you teach by example and by instruction. And when you are serving man by helping him to be better, and nobler you are serving your country. I do not know whether it is true that every man is the architect of his fortunes, but surely every man is the architect of his character.
It is what he makes it and it is growing all the time easier to do right and to be right. With our churches, our Young Men's Christian Association, our various church societies, every assistance is given for righteous living and righteous doing. It is no longer a dream, but a reality, that a young man to be a member of a Christian church. It is no hindrance. It is a help.
There was never in the past such a denial of the great cause for which you are enlisted, for you are helping all the time home and family, law and liberty and civilization, and you all God speed and say good night."

Among the many notable incidents of President McKinley's visit to this city was a visit paid him early last evening by Chinese Consul General Hoyow and the president of the Six Companies, Mr. Hansen, to the President an address and presents valued at $2,000.

A LUNCHEON TO MILNER

CHAMBERLAIN GIVES IT, AND FOR-CASTS THE NEW PEER'S WORK.

The latter avows the necessity of pushing the conquest-time for conciliation comes later.

LONDON, May 25.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, gave a luncheon in honor of Lord Milner of Cape Town this evening. There was present a distinguished company, including the Duke of Cambridge, Lord Salisbury, Lord Evers-dale, the Earl of Halsbury, Lord and Lady Roberts, Lady Curzon, the lord mayor and lady mayoress, Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, and Mr. Dalfour, and the Right Hon. William Brodrick, secretary of the House of Commons. The only two toasts were drunk—"The King" and "Milner." Mr. Chamberlain, in response to Lord Milner's health, said that the latter's present vocation was only a prelude to a more difficult but more congenial task than he had yet faced. He had to return to his post as a new South Africa of the chaos of war and to reconcile two races, now unhappily opposed, whose co-operation is absolutely necessary to South Africa's future prosperity.

Mr. Chamberlain concluded with a broad prediction that Lord Milner would lay a precedent for the future of the new South Africa, free, prosperous and loyal as the sister federations of Canada and Australia.

Lord Milner, replying, deprecated the demonstrations his homecoming had produced, but said he realized that had he quietly taken a hansom from the Waterloo station to his lodgings it would have been heralded over two continents as evidence of his disgrace. Therefore he bowed to the necessity of his being here, and he seemed necessary to prove to persons with the ingrained habit of self-delusion that the new South Africa was a new South Africa, and not a continuation of the old in the face of the enemy and that the people of the country would not be bored into loyalty by the bayonet.

He had been sustained throughout all the phases of the struggle by the certainty that the government's course was the only one that would secure lasting peace, and he was confident that the new South Africa would be a new South Africa, and not a continuation of the old. The time will come, he continued, "and heaven send it quickly," when the new South Africa will be a new South Africa, and not a continuation of the old. The time will come, he
